Save the Babies

NFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. There can be no danger in the use of Castoria if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher as it contains no opiates or narcotics of any kind. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of hat Helithur

VAMPIRE IN REAL LIFE BEATS FILM

Death and Ruin to Men Caused by Fascinating Los Angeles Beauty.

HER POWER IS FATAL

Whole Gamut of Passionate Emotions Enshroud Career of Maud Kafitz -Trouble, Love, Hate, Revenge, Mark Career.

Los Angeles, Cal.-Mrs. Maud Kafitz-a vampire in real life!

The woman around whom centers the suicide of Charles McGwire, the bombing of the residence of Oscar Lawler and the sordid tragedy of a ruined home and a broken-hearted husband is, by her record, the stage vampire become a living personality.

Her life study is a character study of fascination-her fascination-her power-over men of a certain type. Men mark the milestones of her life. And these men suffered.

William Kafitz, Charles McGwire and her other friends and admirers were drawn to the flame of her personality and were scorched by the Her husband dled, brokenblaze. hearted, eight months after she shot hi.n. McGwire lies in a sulcide's grave, dishonored, and charged with the bombing of the residence of Oscar Lawler and the serious injuring of Mr. and Mrs. Lawler. Those other men whose lives touched hers are in troubled waters.

Always Trouble.

Trouble, trouble-love, hate, rerenge, the whole gamut of passionate emotions, enshroud the career of Maud Kafitz. And always trouble.

Born in Toronto, Ohio, 40 years ago, she has been characterized by her own sister as a "wayward girl" since she was eleven years old.

Little is known of her life up to the time of her meeting William Kafitz in Los Angeles in 1905, but she had been in California before, in 1900, and there were rumors of a tangedy in San Jose. A man shot another man there. Both are said to have been admirers of the then Maud Myers. Her remarkable influence over men of a certain type had, as far as can be learned, claimed its first tragic denouement.

In 1905 Maud Myers came to Los Angeles with her parents and sister. They rented a house at Winfield and Westlake, William Kafitz, who was in the real estate business, had this house on his list and called there to show it to a prospective buyer. He met Maud Myers, and his middle-aged heart throbbed with youth. He came to sell. He remained to court-and to regret. They were married in 1906. Kafitz' marital sea was comparatively unruffled until the death of his wife's father. Mr. Myers always had told his daughters he was in moderate circumstances. He had settled $5,000 on Maud when she married Kafitz, but had led her to believe he was a comparatively poor man. With his death it was learned he was wealthy and Mrs. Kafitz inherited $50,000.

Handsome Stranger Appears. Enter-trouble. This was the cue and trouble accepted it.

Mrs. Kafitz bought, against her husband's advice, an expensive limousine and engaged a chauffeur, Jacob Migeot. She made many trips in the car which kept her away from home all day. She said she was shopping, but her husband was warned that at an automobile show she was accompanied by a "handsome stranger" and wore orchids. The stranger was Jacob Jepsin. This was the beginning. Far beyond lie Campbell, Ahearn, Beyerle, McGwire, the shooting of William Kafitz, while the smoke from the burning Lawler home rises in the distance.

They Mixed Drinks. Milford, Del.-Three small children mixed and drank "milk shakes" of white shoe dressing when their milk supply was exhausted. Physicians say their chances of recovery is fifty-fifty.

His Chief Trouble There is an elevator boy in a New fork office building who is among a large number of public servants who resent needless questions. One day there entered his car a rather fussy old lady and garrulous as well.

"Don't you ever feel sick going up and down in this elevator all day?"

she asked. "Yes, ma'am," said the boy. "Is it the motion going down?"

"No, ma'am." "The motion going up?"

"No, ma'am." "Is it the stopping that does it?" "No, ma'am."

"Then what it is?" "Answering questions, ma'am."-Everybody's.

They had been discussing art, and the young man was getting slightly tired of the subject.

"I remember one picture that brought tears to my eyes, however," he continued.

"Ah, it was some pathetic subject," murmured the damsel, who took herself seriously.

"As a matter of fact I don't know what the subject was, but I happened to be sitting under a pretty heavy picture when the cord broke and it came down on my head."

Peace Stamps.

President Wilson will soon have the privilege of seeing his own portrait on a postage stamp! Not a United States stamp, however, for the pictures of living persons do not appear on this country's adhesives. But there is no law which forbids a foreign country from thus honoring a living American and the peace stamps in preparation in Uruguay-it is understood they already have been issued-bear the portraits of President Wilson, President Poincare of France, the kings of England, Belgium and Italy, and portraits of other rulers of countries associated in the war against Germany. This set will be highly prized by philatelists.-Kent B. Stiles in Boys' Life.
